

Theresa Fesinstine

Founder, peoplepower.ai

Theresa Fesinstine is an accomplished HR Executive recognized as a LinkedIn Top Voice in Artificial Intelligence and the Founder of peoplepower.ai, a consultancy with a clear mission - making artificial intelligence (AI) accessible and comprehensible for non-tech professionals.

With a career spanning over 25 years in HR leadership and people management, Theresa has gained invaluable insights into the transformative potential of people and technology. Her professional journey has been dedicated to fostering vibrant workplace cultures, driving business operations, and enhancing employee engagement, leading to recognition and awards in leadership, mentorship and diversity.

However, Theresa's true passion lies in development, and as AI is poised to construct a new future of work, she has placed herself at the intersection of AI and human experience. As a certified professional in AI for Business Strategy from MIT, she is exceptionally equipped to guide individuals and organizations into the AI-driven future of work. Theresa's speaking engagements as an international keynote speaker and her status as a published thought leader underscore her unwavering commitment to demystifying AI.

At peoplepower.ai, the mission is clear - to flatten the AI Learning Curve. Theresa firmly believes that AI should be an accessible tool for everyone, and she's dedicated to empowering professionals to harness its full potential.

Theresa is excited to share valuable insights and collaborate on the journey toward an AI-empowered future of work. Together, she believes we can unlock the transformative power of AI and drive unparalleled success in organizations.

